

Dzhingilbaev Seit Sarsenbaevich

Doctor of Technical Sciences. I worked at the Institute for more than 20 years.

Responsible for the development and creation of

Actively participated in the implementation of the laboratory topics, as devices for tapping off the non-grain part of the crop in a stationary line of threshing rice. He made a significant contribution to the development of technical means for processing grain of rice. Author of 40 published works of scientific and industrial character, including 2 author's certificates for inventions.